The Optos Optomap is an ultra-widefield retinal imaging device. Taking high-resolution multi-colored photos, the Optos Optomap allows optometrists to fully examine the back of the eye to look for tumors, cancers, retinal tears, and many other medical conditions.

The ZeaVision QuantifEye Macular Pigment Optical Density (MPOD) test, allows optometrists to assess a key Age-Related Macular Degeneration (AMD) factor: macular pigment. AMD is a leading cause of vision loss and blindness in adults. In addition to its aid in the monitoring and screening of AMD, this test also monitors other visual performance challenges.
